There are 100 survey numbers in this village, of these three are not available for cultivation, being respectively a tank, a mango tope and a piece of uncultivable rocky ground (purampoke), this leaves then 97 fields, of which number 3 1 are cultivated in their entirety and portions of 18 more are also cultivated leaving 45 fields untouched. There are 890 acres 27 guntas of land in the village 738 acres 17 guntas of which are usually cultivated 27 acres 10 guntas are accounted for by the numbers mentioned above, the remaining 129 acres being attributable to the acreage of roads, foot-paths, nallas, ravines, &c. Of the 738 acres 17 guntas which are usually cultivated, 313 acres 8 guntas are under cultivation this year or 42 per cent. There are seven different kinds of crops in the village, viz., castor oil, kulti, rice, ragi, togari, korle and navane. Of these, ragi has 223 acres 6 guntas or about 71 per cent., rice, 34 acres 12 guntas or about 11 per cent; kulti, 34 acres 4 guntas or about 10 per cent; castor oil, 12 acres 21 guntas or about 4½ per cent; togari, 5 acres 6 guntas or about 1½ per cent; navane, 3 acres 33 guntas or about 1¼ per cent; and korle, 2 acres 6 guntas or about ¾ per cent. I would appraise the value of these crops in annas as follows: togari 6 annas, ragi 8 annas, kulti 10 annas, castor oil and navane 12 annas each, and rice and korle 16 annas each.

There are 33 survey fields in this village, of these one is not available for cultivation being a tank, and seven more have lain waste for many years; this leaves then 25 fields which are usually cultivated; of these three are cultivated in their entirety, and portions of seven more are also cultivated, leaving 15 fields untouched. There are 286 acres 23 guntas of land in the village, 165 acres 29 guntas of which are usually cultivated, 46 acres and 32 guntas are accounted for by the seven waste numbers mentioned above the remaining 74 acres 2 guntas are attributable to the tank, village site, roads, &c. Of the 165 acres 29 guntas usually cultivated, 47 acres 30 guntas are under cultivation this year or 29 per cent. There are eight different kinds of crops in this village, viz., kulti, togari, ragi, korle, bargu, navane, and sáve; of these kulti has 15 acres 14 guntas or about 32 per cent; korle 12 acres and 28 guntas or about 27 per cent; ragi five acres 14 guntas or about 11 per cent; togari 4 acres 3 guntas or about six per cent; and navane and sáve 37 guntas a piece, or about 2 per cent each. The crops in this village are very bad, they have not seemingly been favored with as much rain in those parts as in the rest of the Taluk; worms have attacked all the crops, and I don't think the out-turn will be above four annas in the rupee in any one field with the sole exception of rice which will be a bumper crop.

There are 35 survey fields in this village, of these 1 is not available for cultivation being a tank, and two more have lain waste for many years: this leaves then 32 fields which are usually cultivated, of these 15 are entirely cultivated and 12 more are also partially so, leaving 5 fields untouched. There are 299 acres 30 guntas of land in the village, 244 acres 38 guntas of which are usually cultivated; 13 acres 19 guntas are accounted for by the 2 waste numbers mentioned above, the remaining 40 acres 35 guntas are attributable to the tank, village site, &c. Of the 244 acres 38 guntas usually cultivated, 189 acres 32 guntas are under cultivation this year or 77 per cent. There are 14 different crops in the village, viz., ragi, sáve, kulti, kulkorle, castor oil, bargu, korle, navane, cholam, earth-nuts, rice, harka, chillies and garden produce. Of these sáve has 37 acres 12 guntas, or about 20 per cent; ragi 36 acres or about 19 per cent; kulkorle 29 acres 34 guntas, or about 16 per cent; castor oil 21 acres 12 guntas, or about 11 per cent; kulti 18 acres 33 guntas, or about 10 per cent; rice 17 acres 35 guntas, or about 9 per cent; cholam 8 acres 3 guntas, or about 4 per cent; navane 4 acres 29 guntas, or about 3 per cent, korle 7 acres 31 guntas, or about 4 per cent; bargu 4 acres 32 guntas, or about 3 per cent; and the remaining crops divide 2 acres 11 guntas between them, or about 1 per cent. The crops in this village are poor, excepting the rice and castor oil, which will yield full crops. The remaining grains will yield on an average about 6 annas each, except kulti which will be an 8 annas crop. The cholam is entirely spoiled, the only part saved being the stalks which will serve for fodder for cattle.

There are 69 survey numbers in this village all of which are arable; of this number 46 are entirely cultivated and 18 partially so, leaving only 5 whole numbers fallow this year. There are 471 acres 30 guntas of land in the village, 443 acres 19 guntas of which are usually cultivated, 28 acres 11 guntas are taken up by the village site, roads, &c. Of the 443 acres 19 guntas which are usually cultivated, 397 acres 10 guntas are cultivated this year, or nearly 90 per cent. There are 11 different sorts of crops in this village, viz., ragi, castor oil, avare, togari, kulti, rice, bargu, vegetable, kulkorle, chillies, navane. Of these ragi and kulti have an equal acreage of about 113 and a half acres, or 29 per cent each ; avare has 65 acres 8 guntas, or about 16 per cent ; castor oil has 47acres 35 guntas, or about 12 per cent ; togari has 22 acres 36 guntas, or about 6 per cent ; bargu has 19 acres 25 guntas, or about 5 per cent ; and the other crops divide 13 acres 33 guntas among them, or about 3 per cent. The crops in this village are very fair and I would estimate the probable yield as follows. Ragi 6 annas, kulti 12 annas, avare 8 annas, castor oil 16 annas, togari and bargu 10 annas each.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Department, 8th January 1878.

There are 44 survey numbers in this village; of these one is a tank and one is reserved as grazing ground or "Hulbanni," 42 fields are therefore usually cultivated, of this number 26 are cultivated this year in their entirety and 6 are partially cultivated, leaving 10 waste. There are 347 acres one gunta in this village, of this 42 acres 38 guntas are attributable to the tank and grazing land mentioned above, and 50 acres 25 guntas are absorbed by the village site, foot paths, &c., leaving 253 acres 18 guntas of arable land. Of this 204 acres 20 guntas are cultivated this year, or 81 per cent. There are 10 different sorts of crops in the ground, viz., ragi, castor oil, avare, kulti, togari, kulkorle, sáve, navane, till and rice. Of these, ragi has 70 acres 31 guntas, or about 35 per cent; kulti 42 acres 27 guntas, or about 21 per cent, rice 32 acres 31 guntas, or about 16 per cent; avare 16 acres 8 guntas, or about 8 per cent; castor oil 12 acres 28 guntas, or about 6 per cent; sáve 11 acres 17 guntas, or about 5 per cent; togari and navane have 6 acres 2 guntas; and 5 acres 24 guntas respectively, or about 3 per cent each: till has 4 acres 16 guntas, or 2 per cent; and kulkorle 1 acre 36 guntas or 1 per cent. The outturn of these crops in annas will be as I judge as follows:—Rice and castor oil 16 annas each; avare, kulti and till 10 annas each; togari and kulkorle 8 annas each; and ragi, sáve and navane about 6 annas each; but for want of weeding the crops in this village would have been particularly good.

There are 24 survey fields in this village, two of which are not available for the purposes of cultivation being tanks and one number has lain waste for many years. There are thus 21 numbers cultivated usually; of these 2 only are entirely cultivated this year and only 5 partially so, leaving the large number of 14 untouched and fallow. There are 263 acres 26 guntas in this village, of these 29 acres 36 guntas are unculturable (21 acres 23 guntas of this are attributable to thetwo tanks, the remaining 8 acres 13 guntas have lain waste for many years), then 220 acres 32 guntas are cultivated usually. Of these only 50 acres 23 guntas are cultivated this year or 23 per cent. There are 9 different crops in the ground, viz., castor oil, tobacco, sáve, cholam, harka, kulti, ragi, togari and chillies. Of these castor oil has 5 acres 24 guntas, or 31 per cent; ragi 7 acres 14 guntas, or 15 per cent; togari and kulti have 5 acres 29 guntas and 5 acres 27 guntas respectively, or about 11 per cent each; chillies 4 acres 28 guntas, or 9 per cent; tobacco 4 acres 9 guntas, or about 8½ per cent; cholam 3 acres 30 guntas, or about 7½ per cent; haraka 2 acres 35 guntas, or 6 per cent and sáve 27 guntas, or 1 per cent. Of these castor oil, tobacco and chillies are good crops, 16 annas in the rupee, togari about 10 annas, kulti 8 annas, sáve, harka and ragi about 4 annas each, while the cholam is entirely gone, the profitable part being the stalks which will serve for fodder. The chief reason for the badness of the crops in this village is the want of weeding, they have had a fair share of rain.

There are 87 survey numbers in this village, one number has lain waste for many years, leaving 86 which are usually cultivated. Of this number 25 are entirely cultivated this year, 33 are partially cultivated, and 28 are left untilled. There are 697 acres, 30 guntas in the village, 31 guntas are accounted for by the number mentioned above, and 32 acres 23 guntas are taken up by the village site, &c., this leaves 664 acres, 16 guntas which are cultivated in a good season, of this 285 acres, 28 guntas are cultivated this year, or 43 per cent. There are 14 different kinds of crops in the ground, viz., ragi, cholam, sáve, harka, castor oil, korle, kulti, till, pan, bargu, rice, hemp, plantains and chillies. Of these ragi has 141 acres 11 guntas, or about 50 per cent; kulti 35 acres 21 guntas, or about 12 per cent; harka 23 acres 15 guntas, or about 8 per cent; cholam 19 acres 7 guntas, or about 7 per cent; korle 15 acres 16 guntas, or about 6 per cent; pan 12 acres 1 gunta, or about 4 per cent; castor oil, sáve and rice 9 acres 15 guntas, 8 acres 28 guntas and 8 acres and 15 guntas respectively, or about 3 per cent each; hemp 4 acres 14 guntas, or about 2 per cent; and the other crops divide 6 acres 25 guntas between them, or about 2 per cent; I would value these crops as follows in annas: Castor oil and rice 16 annas, harka, korle, kulti and till 12 annas, ragi, sáve and bargu 10 annas, and cholam 2 annas for the sake of the "kerbi" the remaining crops, viz., pan, hemp, plantains and chillies are difficult to estimate, but they all seemed very fair.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Department, 8th January 1878.

Note by the Famine Commissioner.

Mr. Betham deserves high credit not only for his careful and accurate investigation into details, but also for the manner in which his report tabulates and focusses the results he has obtained. A few facts of this kind, accurately collected from well chosen villages, are a far better basis for forming broad conclusions as to the agricultural prospects of the country, than cartloads of vague surmises and generalities.

2. The conclusion Mr. Betham arrives at is that the population in his 7 selected villages has decreased by 20 per cent, the cultivation has fallen off by 45 per cent in area,* and the crop is approximately an 8-anna crop. Where ordinarily speaking there would be 100 acres producing 16 of any given common measure, (say P.) per acre, there are now 55 acres producing 8 P. So that the produce on the ground is 440 P. compared with 1,600, P. or 27·5 per cent of the ordinary produce of a good year. Again, making allowance for the loss of population, where there are ordinarily 2 acres producing 16 P. each, or 32 P. per head of population, there are now 1·36 acres producing 8 P. each or 10·88 P. per head; so that there is just one third of the usual produce per mouth, now in the ground. If then the usual produce supplies three times as much as the usual population can consume, there is now enough food in the ground for the present population: but if the usual produce does not so greatly exceed the usual consumption, there is not enough food in the ground, and we must look forward to a prolongation of the time of distress and scarcity, and part of the population must live on imported food, and must earn money by labor to buy that food.

3. I am quite unable, from want of local knowledge, to hazard any opinion as to the relation between produce and consumption in ordinary years in this Province. I believe the best authorities on agricultural statistics hold that, taking India as a whole, one acre supports rather more than one mouth: but in Northern India one acre performs a larger service than this, and possibly in Southern India it does less than the average, or only supports about one mouth. The statistics of the Gazetteer bear out this assumption, for they shew that the cultivated area of this Province (5,226,000 acres) is slightly larger than the population (5,055,000), and that the export of food grains exceeds the import by about a lakh of rupees in value a year. But I shall esteem it a favor if officers of experience in the Province will give me any information bearing on this subject.

4. The relation between the produce of the ground and the mouths which have to be supported by it is the most important factor in dealing with the question of Famine and in forming an out-look as to the measures which should be taken. Mr. Betham is the first officer who has given me material assistance on this question: but experiments in a single Taluk would not justify me in forming an opinion for an area much larger than that Taluk. Other Relief Officers have, I know, been engaged on similar enquiries at my request, though the results have not yet reached me; and I trust that the Jamabandi and Census operations now being undertaken may afford, when combined together, a considerable mass of useful knowledge bearing on this subject. I trust therefore the Chief Commissioner will approve of the circulation of Mr. Betham's report with my note to all officers engaged in those operations.

ORDER THEREON.—The Chief Commissioner has read with interest Mr. Betham's report giving the results of the field-to-field inspection he has made of 7 villages of the Túmkúr Taluk and the valuable Note thereon by the Famine Commissioner. He quite concurs with Mr. Elliott in considering that Mr. Betham is deserving of credit for the painstaking and accurate investigations he has undertaken, and approves thoroughly of the proposed circulation of these papers to all Officers engaged in the Census and Jamabandi operations.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Department, 11th January 1878.

Read the following Note by the Famine Commissioner of Mysore.

In my Minute of December 1, I expressed a doubt whether any of the three Civil Relief Works in the Shimoga District is really needed and called for the opinions of the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner on the subject.

2. Colonel Campbell before going on leave recorded on the 19th December his opinion that they were not needed as Relief Works, but should be kept open at the ordinary rates as being useful to the District, and worth finishing.

3. Colonel Mottet has now written his report, dated 28th December, to the effect that there is no need of relief now, though need may arise after another month. If I thought with him that "a large class of coolies and impoverished ryots would need employment in a month", I would not close these works: but I am inclined to think he is mistaken and that in the Shimoga District there will be no considerable revival of distress. This is the Commissioner's opinion, but it may turn out wrong, and it will be the Deputy Commissioner's duty to feel the pulse of the district, to watch the growth of applications for labor, and to lose no time in re-opening these works, with sanction or in anticipation of sanction, if the necessity arises. Meanwhile the three works—

1 Harige Tank, near Shimoga,
2 The Benkipur-Dumi Road,
3 The Shimoga-Solanga-Honnali Road, may be continued under the ordinary rules and rates of pay from the District Funds, subject to orders which will be passed in the General Department.

The following Minute by the Famine Commissioner of Mysore on Village Relief is forwarded to the Commissioners of Divisions, Deputy Commissioners of Districts, and all Special Relief Officers for information and guidance.

By Order,

Minute on Village Relief by Famine Commissioner.

Under the orders of the 19th December the distribution of a grain dole at Government expense has been stopped from or after the 1st of January, and Village Register A of the Famine Code (Chapter V, para 4) has been closed. It follows naturally from this that the appointment of Circle Inspectors should come to an end, unless in any case their retention be specially asked for and sanctioned on exceptional grounds. But it must not be understood that the System of Village Inspection, initiated by the Chief Commissioner's Orders of 9th February 1876 has died out or is no longer necessary. The duty of inspecting villages, investigating the state of the impoverished classes, and reporting on them when any assistance is required, still devolves on the Shekdars of Hoblis and they should be instructed accordingly A permanent advance of Rs. 10 should be made to them, for the purpose of temporarily relieving any cases of pressing want till such time as they can be brought before the Officer charged with the distribution of Charitable Relief, and receive from him more effectual assistance Deputy Commissioners should arrange with Amildars that the expenditure of money by the Shekdars on this account should be immediately recouped to them on presentation of their bills, and the Shekdar never be without money for this purpose. Many complaints have been made, especially in the Hassan District, that the objects of Government have been defeated through delay in recouping the Shekdars.

2. The book which was called the "Village Inspector's Diary Book," but might have been more appropriately termed the "Village Register of Inspection and Relief" is no longer needed to record grain doles: but its uses are by no means at an end. It will be quite invaluable if all grants made from the Charitable Relief Fund are entered in it, and their objects; for it will prevent the same man from receiving money twice over, and it will prevent, to some extent, misappropriation of the Funds When the Special Relief Officer visits a village and gives money for bullocks, houses, looms, implements, &c., if he records the gifts in the "Village Register," then the Shekdar on his succeeding visits will have the record before him, and will enquire if the bullocks, looms, &c., have been bought or not, and will note accordingly. Similarly, if the Special Relief Officer is changed, his successor, by a reference to this book, will see what has been done for each village, and will be able to supplement past relief, if necessary, without fear of being cheated into giving money to those, who have received it before, but deny the grant.

3. All Deputy Commissioners and Relief Officers should see, therefore, that every Shekdar has a copy of this book, and should indent on this Office for any additional copies they require.

4. The Shekdar should be instructed to enter the date of each subsequent visit on the right hand page, with extremely brief remarks. Any cases requiring relief will be entered on the left hand page. District Officers, Special Relief Officers, and Amildars are requested, whenever they enter a Hobli or meet a Shekdar, to call for this book and to examine by inspection of it, whether the Shekdars have been active in their inspection or not.

Bangalore, 14th January 1878.

MEMO.

The following extract from a memo received from a Census Officer and the Famine Commissioner's remarks thereon are circulated to the Deputy Commissioners of Districts and all Special Relief and Census Officers for information and guidance.

A Kanarese translation will issue to Amildars from this office.

By Order,
A. WINGATE,
Addl. Secretary.

Extract from the Memo referred to above.

The particulars for each house are entered at the house itself, the only exception being the residences of the Holiyar and Madigar (low castes), who, (paradoxical as it may appear) do not permit high caste men to come into their part of the village. But there need be no fear that the census of that class of population will be imperfect, because they are turned out in a body and particulars carefully ascertained and noted, and numbers marked on planks or other equally convenient material and handed over to the head of each family, or in the absence of an entire family to the Kulvadi to be fixed in front of the corresponding house or house site.

Remark by the Famine Commissioner on the above Memo.

I am extremely disappointed to learn that this officer has not entered the low caste quarters and taken the census at each door. This is a grave dereliction of duty and I cannot excuse or overlook it. I trust that the Deputy Commissioner will see that at the final census the enumerators lay aside these scruples and will really and bonâfide take the census from door to door, treating high and low caste people alike.

Circular No. 56.

MYSORE CHIEF COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
FAMINE DEPARTMENT,

To

The Deputy Commissioners and Census Officers and Superintendent of Coorg.

SIR,

In continuation of my No. 50 dated 3rd January, I am directed to request that all Census Officers will, as soon as the Census is over and they have completed any local enquiries as directed in para 7 of my circular above quoted, prepare a report explanatory of the results of the Census, and touching especially on two points (1), the difference between the figures of the Preliminary and the Final Census. (2) the difference between the figures of the present Census and that of 1871.

2. In the first place the figures of the Preliminary and of the Final Census should be compared side by side, then, for each village—

	Preliminary.	Final.	Increase.	Decrease.
No. of Houses
Men
Women
Boys
Girls
Total.....

and the increase or decrease explained. The differences will probably range themselves under the following heads:—

a Persons permanently resident in the village but accidently absent on the night of the 19th.

b. Persons not permanently resident in the village but accidentally present on the night of the 19th.

c Persons who have left the village since the Preliminary Census was taken.

d. Persons who have come to reside in the village since the Preliminary Census was taken.

e. Persons who have died since the Preliminary Census was taken.

f. Children born since the Preliminary Census was taken.

g. Errors in the Preliminary Census.

N. B.—Some persons will have to be out in the fields on the night of the 19th to watch the crops and threshing floors and stacks: they should be entered as if they were present in their houses.

3. Next the comparison of the figures of 1871 and 1877 should be made in the form laid down in the Famine Commissioner's memo No. 51, dated 3rd January, and quoted below:—

1871.				1877.
Houses.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Houses.	Males.	Females.	Total Present	Absent.	Dead.	Grand Total.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11

The discrepancies in the numbers of houses need not be explained as the numbering of 1871 was extremely faulty; but the number of empty and ruined houses should be stated, and whether deserted before the Famine or not. The main point is to try to find out the causes of any great discrepancy in the total number of population. If the figures in columns 4 and 11 differ very widely, that must be due either to the number in column 4 having been originally wrong, or to the number absent and dead being now incorrectly returned; and efforts should be made to ascertain which of these two causes is at work. If the number of dead and absent, and the deficiency of population as compared with 1871 are very small, it will probably be due to the fact that the village has suffered very little from Famine: either it had good dry crops and the season was favorable, or else though it lost its dry crops it had an unusual amount of wet land, and its tanks, wells or channels did not dry up, or the reason may be that it is a centre of trade, and its population is not dependant on agriculture. If the loss of population is very large, the conclusion will be that its people lived chiefly by agriculture, and that their crops almost or entirely failed them, or else that they perished largely from epidemic diseases. In many cases it is possible that both these causes operated. A statement should be got from the Shanbhogs shewing for each village the following facts: -

Class of land.			Area usually cultivated.	Area cultivated in 1876—77.	Area cultivated in 1877—78.
Wet—Tanks...	...	...
Wells ...	...	...
Channels	...	...
Gardens	...	...
Dry—	...	...
		Total.....

The report should also shew what classes of people have suffered most severely from the Famine, and it should state how many of the deaths are believed to be due to cholera and in what month the out-break (or out-breaks if more than one) of cholera occurred. Enquiries should also be made as to whether the number of absentees corresponds to the normal state of the village, or to what extent it exceeds the normal number.

4. Any other information that the Census Officer can collect bearing on the cause which have affected the decrease of population, should be inserted in his report. Some officers have taken a census of bullocks, and these statistics will be very valuable.

5. As soon as those Census Officers who have joined the Famine Department from other Provinces or Departments, and are not required to remain longer for Jamabandi or other work, have completed their report, they should despatch it direct to this office with the Preliminary and Final Census Returns; and should repair at once to Bangalore and report themselves to this office for return to their respective Provinces or Departments. The other Census Officers will be requested to tabulate their returns themselves in forms respecting which instructions will issue shortly.

SIR,

I am directed to enclose copy of the Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner No. 1991, dated 29th ultimo, sanctioning to Surgeon M. Robinson, the grant of a deputation allowance of Rs. 250 per mensem, while employed in the Famine Department, in addition to his unemployed pay of Rs. 286, and to request that you will be good enough to obtain the confirmation of the Government of India to the extra charge.

2. The Relief Camps and Famine Hospitals in Bangalore had, since their opening, been under the care of Surgeon Major J. Henderson, Surgeon to the Mysore Commission, but that officer and the Deputy Surgeon General, I. M. D. had for some time been of opinion that assistance was necessary. The arrival of Dr. McGann from England relieved Dr. Robinson at Mysore, and enabled the Chief Commissioner, to put the latter's services at the disposal of the Famine Department, and since the 16th November last, Dr. Robinson has been doing special duty in Bangalore.

3. As this arrangement prevented Dr. Robinson obtaining employment in his own Department and the care of large Famine Hospitals is a very arduous and responsible duty, the Chief Commissioner thought Rs. 250 not an excessive allowance. I am to add that the whole period during which Dr. Robinson is likely to be specially employed will not exceed two or three months.

Circular No. 55.

MYSORE CHIEF COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
FAMINE DEPARTMENT,
BANGALORE, 16th January 1878.

To

The Dy. Commissioners, and Superintendent of Coorg.

Sir,

The reports that have been received from some parts of the Province, respecting the area cultivated and the quantity of dry crop that has been harvested off it, are so gloomy, that the Famine Commissioner deems it necessary to call on you for a report shewing your opinion as to what the out-turn of the crop has been, as compared with that of 1876—77, and what your estimate is of the out-look for the future, and the probability of the revival of distress, or famine, during the ensuing months. The report should be drawn up after consulting your Special Relief Officers, Assistants, Amildars, and other Native Gentlemen of experience, and it should be supported by the statistical table given overleaf.

2. The statistics as to the area usually cultivated in a Taluk, and its ordinary assessment, as well as those for the actual area and the assessment of 1876—77, are, it is believed, available in the Taluk offices. The estimated out-turn of the different dry crops of 1876—77 will to some extent be found in the reply sent from your District to the Chief Commissioner's No. 9366—174 G, dated 13th December 1876, and must to some extent be supplemented by information subsequently obtained.

3. The statistics required for the present year cannot be given with accuracy until the Jamabandi is completed as laid down in the Chief Commissioner's No. 8339—Rev. 32, dated 26th December 1877: but the areas should be filled in from the Shanbhogs' Pahani returns, corrected by the Jamabandi investigation so far as it has gone. For the estimate of the crops, columns 8 and 9, you will probably be able to approach a correct average if you trust to your own observations assisted by those of the other officers whom you are requested to consult.

4. I need hardly point out how important is the issue that depends upon your reply. If the produce of the dry crop now harvested, assisted by the wet crop on the ground, do not greatly exceed the produce of the land in 1876—77, the Government must look forward to a repetition (more or less extensive) of the scenes of last year and must at once lay out the plan of its operations accordingly. I am therefore to express a hope that you will be able to submit your report in about a fortnight's time. A copy of this letter will be sent direct to all Relief and Jamabandi Officers, that they may know at once what assistance you will require of them in preparing the report. A translation of the statistical table will be sent direct to all Amildars to save time in its preparation.

5. A copy of your report should be sent direct to this Office and another copy to the Commissioner of the Division.

I have the honor to be,
Sir,

In continuation of Circular No. 56 of the 15th instant, the Famine Commissioner desires that the attention of all Census Officers should be directed to the following points :—

(1.) It is most important that their Report should indicate how the Low Castes have suffered compared with the High Castes, especially noting the effects of the Famine upon those possessing no land. Census Officers will be good enough to inquire very carefully into this point.

(2.) Another point for investigation is the number of babies of one year old and under. The Census Forms will not give this information, but the Famine Commissioner hopes Census Officers will ascertain the number in as many villages as they conveniently can.

MEMO.

The following Note by the Famine Commissioner of Mysore on the Chik Ballapur Relief Camp is forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner of the Kolar District and the Assistant Commissioner in charge of the Chik Ballapur Sub-Division for guidance, and to all Special Relief Officers for information.

By Order,

A. WINGATE,
Addl. Secretary.

Chik Ballapur.

Inspected the Relief Camp. It is now under the Peshkar, who has not been properly posted up in the former orders which came while the Munsiff had charge. The numbers on the previous day were—

Men	Women.	Children.	Total.
15	9	17	41	Ordinary paupers.
6	4	..	10	Establishment.
9	10	..	19	Sick
		Total....	70

I found present (Ordinary) men 22, women 11, children 14; the difference was accounted for by new admissions. Besides these, 1 man, 4 women, and 7 children were brought in by the Police that evening, found begging about. The man and one of the women in a bad way: the others not so. Children supposed to be orphans, but several turned out to have relatives and parents.

2. There is a good deal of destitution still, and I have observed much wandering during my tour through the north part of Kolar. This is partly purposeless: the people say "Had no food at home, am going to so and so to beg." It is partly due to the injudicious system of distributing Relief at central towns: several people said, "Heard there were clothes, or money, being given at so and so, and am going to try for some." This system of distribution has now, I hope, been stopped, but I fear it will leave injurious traces behind for sometime. Anyhow it is necessary for the Taluk authorities to be watchful: and though I do not think the Relief Camp need be kept open on this account, the Police should still be active in searching for emaciated beggars, and they should bring them to the Taluk Cutcherry for temporary Relief instead of to the Camp. But as far as possible, no Relief should be given except in the people's own villages, and I look to Mr. Krishnaiengar, to his Assistant Commissioner, and Relief Officers, and to all the Amildars, to exert themselves in inspiring confidence among the people, that they will be looked after and their wants relieved in their villages, and that it is not necessary for them to thrust themselves on the observation of their officers by begging in the chief towns and along high ways. To-day, I have been way-laid by more than 100 beggars, who heard I was passing along the road: to all I gave the same answer, that they should be visited and helped in their homes, but not away from their homes. I would adhere to this principle rigidly, except in cases of extreme emaciation, where temporary Relief should be given to preserve life.

3. One of the cases brought in yesterday was a Mahomedan woman, who looked as if she had been respectable, and who said she had been begging in Chik Ballapur for 4 months. This statement was corroborated. She was far gone in Famine Dropsy, and it was sad to think that such cases can occur, with an extremely charitable Assistant Commissioner located on the spot—Sub Lampade nox. We have seen the same thing in Bangalore, only Bangalore is a bigger place to deal with.

4. The Peshkar's ideas of feeding are more liberal than is consistent with a due execution of my orders. But I need not go into details as the Camp is to be closed. I found, by the way, that he had received the printed book "Statement II" only on the 7th January, and was entering no details in it: but he had a M.S. book in the same form properly filled up. It is strange that he should have received the book so late. Mr. Mahommed Ali Jan told me that he had received one of my Circulars (issued 26th December) only 3 or 4 days ago. I am afraid there is a good deal of delay in the Deputy Commissioner's office and would ask him to see to its efficient working.

5. I went through the list of the Ordinary paupers with the Assistant Commissioner and Amildar and arranged what was to be done in all cases. Some who had a profession of any kind were to be sent to their villages and enabled to start afresh; some who must live by labor were to be sent to the Public Works Department Road Gang: some old and feeble people were to go home with money to support them for 3 months. The Amildar must be careful to look them up before that period ends.

6. The sick were 23. About 8 of these are seriously ill of diarrhœa and dropsy, and had better remain here: the rest, 15 or 16, to be sent in to Bangalore Relief Hospital under the Bengal Hospital Assistant, Synd-uddin, who, after handing them over to Dr. Robinson, can return to Bengal.

7. In the case of fresh sick people being brought in, or applying for treatment, I think it will be best to put aside a ward in the Dispensary, or to erect a shed by it, where the Dresser can attend to them: he should keep a separate account of the expenditure incurred on their behalf, which will be debited to Famine.

MEMO.

The following letter is circulated to the Commissioners of Divisions, Deputy Commissioners of Districts and all Special Relief Officers for information and guidance.

By Order,
A. WINGATE,
Addl. Secretary.

To

The Deputy Commissioner District.

SIR,

I am desired to forward for your information copies of the papers marginally noted and to state that it has been decided to close the Relief Work.

2. The Famine Commissioner desires me to say that he views the necessity for taking this step with the deepest regret, and that he looks upon the failure of this Relief Work as a blot upon the administration of your District. Mr. Elliott is confident that there were and still are hundreds of people in the Taluk where the work is situated in grievous want of employment and who ought to have been urged and pressed to come and support themselves by labor. In every village round about there may be found women whose husbands are dead or have deserted them and have no resource but to work: men of the low castes who ordinarily live by field labor but to whom no employment can be given by the ryots: and ryots too who have no wet lands, whose dry crops have turned out extremely poor and who will have for some time to earn their bread by labor. And yet with numerous representatives of these classes in the Taluk, the work has been starved throughout and is now closed for want of labor.

5. It is necessary that every Officer should understand that when a Relief Work is opened in a District or part of a District under his charge, if there are people in need of relief, and if they do not accept the form of relief offered and go to the work, the onus will rest on the District and Relief Officer of proving that he has not failed in his duty.

6. The present case is the more serious because it is of a piece with what has happened before, and it is symptomatic of what may happen again. There are already signs of a revival of distress through the failure of the dry crop, and in some parts of the Province the distress may be severe and may amount to Famine. We must not, if we can avoid it, have any repetition of the scenes of last year. We must not have Relief Works starved for want of hands, while the people are dying in hundreds in their villages or emigrating in thousands. If the people are timid or unaccustomed to resort to these works, pressure must be laid on them, personal persuasion and encouragement must be resorted to, and that confidence which ought to exist between the villagers and a Relief Officer who personally knows their case and has interested himself in their misfortunes, ought to be relied on as likely to induce them to accept his advice. It is because Mr. Elliott believes that this personal influence has been wanting hitherto and fears that it may be wanting hereafter that he has deemed it necessary to take serious notice of this regrettable failure of a Relief Work.

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Department, 24th January 1878.

READ—

The following Note by the Famine Commissioner of Mysore on the collection of sick and stragglers in the Town and Cantonment of Bangalore.

I visited the Pettah to-day in company with Lieutenant Anderson, Mr. Hewetson, Inspector O'Connell, and the Sanitary Inspector Mr. Van Ingen. We hunted in all the most likely places for emaciated people and found about a dozen, or a dozen and a half. I certainly consider that there is no evidence of an influx of emaciated beggars: I have never ridden through the town without seeing more.

2. This may, however, be partly due to the fact that the Police had this morning made an extremely active sweep and had collected at the market station more than 300 beggars. Some of these were in very bad condition. Some were ready and able to work. Some were Mahomedan women, not very well off, but who positively refused to work and whom it is no use to send to the Railway. It is possible therefore that the reports I have heard of an increased number of beggars being seen were accurate, but if so it was only due to the Police having performed their work rather slackly of late.

3. The system is capable of improving in several small points. There is a want of co-operation among the different Departments who have charge of the Pettah. The Sanitary Inspector is under Dr. Orr, and reports directly to him, not to Lieutenant Anderson or Inspector O'Connell. Inspector O'Connell has no direct connection with Lieutenant Anderson. Moreover he did not seem thoroughly to understand what is done with the paupers and talked of their being turned away at the Pettah Relief Camp. I explained to him that no one is turned away there. The old and incapable are received into the Camp. The sick are sent to Hospital. The emaciated and weak are sent to Lieutenant Lamb's special gang: the able-bodied to Kengeri: but if any of these latter refuse to work they are not sent out there forcibly as they could not be kept at work when they get there: they are allowed to go away. These are the instructions under which Mr. Bride acts at the Pettah Relief Camp and this is his sole duty. There must be no more talk from the Police about people being "turned away," for no one is turned away.

4. I think the following arrangements should be adopted. As now, a party (1 Sergeant and 2 Constables) should start at 6 A. M. from each station in the Pettah every day except Saturday and Sunday, go through the beat and collect all sick and emaciated beggars at the Market Station. An Officer should be told off to receive them there and to note down every day how many are received from each station. When they are all collected they will be sent to the Pettah Relief Camp with a slip stating the numbers, which will be returned receipted by Mr. Bride, or whoever is in charge of the duty. The numbers thus sent should be reported daily to Lieutenant Anderson who will be placed in charge of this branch of Famine Duty in the Pettah relieving Mr. Hewetson of this portion of his charge. Lieutenant Anderson should occasionally go round with the station parties to see that they omit no one who ought to be picked up, and should frequently visit the Market Station at 8 to see that the Police do not err by excess, and pick up those who should be left alone. The Sanitary Inspector should also occasionally accompany the parties, (he seemed to have a sharp eye and good judgment as to those who required looking after) and should communicate direct with Lieutenant Anderson in all matters relating to the Famine Department.

5. Similarly in the Cantonment, Station parties should go out early and meet at the Broadway Station at 8, and Mr. Hewetson should occasionally accompany them to test their discretion and to educate them as to the class of people who require to be looked after: and he should constantly inspect the numbers collected at Broadway. I would suggest also that he should submit (direct to the Additional Secretary if the Inspector General approves, or through the Inspector General) a weekly diary recording his proceedings in all matters relating to Famine and his general remarks as to the condition of the people and as to any arrangements he wishes to propose.

6. I was afraid that, as a Special Famine Agency had existed so long to deal with the famine-stricken people, the Regular Police might have acquired the idea that it was not part of their ordinary duty, now that the Special Famine Agency is nearly abolished. Mr. Hewetson assures me this is not the case and I am glad to hear it. But I think it might be advisable to abolish the Special Famine Agency altogether, strengthening the Police, if the Inspector General of Police thinks it necessary, by absorbing the existing members of the Special Famine Agency into it temporarily (still charging them to Famine), but amalgamating them so that they may be available for every purpose, and the whole of the Regular Police available for Famine work.

C. A. ELLIOTT,
Famine Commissioner.

ORDER THEREON.—The Chief Commissioner quite concurs in and approves of the Famine Commissioner's suggestions and desires that the Inspector General of Police will see that effect is given to the proposals made in regard to the Police Force.

SIR,

In continuation of my letter No. 2235 of the 17th instant, I am directed by the Chief Commissioner to report that Mr. Assistant Apothecary Dean and Hospital Assistant Muzaruddin of the Bengal Medical Establishment, who had been lent to this Province for Famine Duty, have been ordered to return to their own Presidency and report themselves to the Surgeon-General, Indian Medical Department, Calcutta.

Circular No. 62.

MYSORE CHIEF COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE
FAMINE DEPARTMENT,
Bangalore, 25th January 1878.

To

The Deputy Commissioners of Bangalore,
Kolar,
Túmkúr, Chitaldrug, and Hassan.

Sir,

In view of the possibility that there may be some revival of distress and that it may be necessary to open fresh Relief Works to give employment to the people, I am desired to request that you will prepare a list of works which you consider suitable and useful and which do not require skilled labor. They should if possible be Tank Works, not Roads, as these are found to require an excessive amount of supervision; and if we must have roads, then only the collection and breaking of metal on the road-side, which can easily be measured up, should be undertaken. They should of course be large works employing at the lowest 300 people for one month. The list should contain one or two works for each of the Taluks named in the margin.

Bangalore ...	Hoskotta.
	Dod Ballapur.
	Nela Mangala.
	Anekal
Kolar ...	All Taluks.
Túmkúr ...	Do
Chitaldrug..	Budihal (west.)
	Hosdrug.
	Paugarh
Hassan ...	Naga Mangala.
	Chanaraipatna.
	Attikupa.
	Harnhalli.

2. It is proposed that in the first instance one work should be commenced in each Taluk where want is believed to exist, as a tentative measure, under the Civil Relief Officer, and that it should be transferred to the Public Works Department if the numbers resorting to it prove that there is a real demand for employment. None of the works now proposed should be situated so near a Public Relief Work now in progress as to compete with it; but if works are known to exist in any Taluk, the plans for which have been prepared by Public Works Department Officers and which they are ready to undertake as opportunity arises, such works should, other things being equal, be selected in preference to any others.

3. The list of works should be accompanied by an estimate of the numbers likely to resort to Relief in each Taluk, during the months of March, April, May and June.

I have, &c.,

Proceedings of the Chief Commissioner of Mysore, Famine Department, 25th January 1878.

Minute by Famine Commissioner.

I visited the Broadway Station this morning, and found a large body of beggars collected there, about 400, some of them able-bodied. A larger sweep than usual had been made on account of my expected visit, and in consequence I found the streets of the Cantonment camparatively free from beggars afterwards The collecting of able bodied beggars was forbidden by my last instructions to the Police but if the numbers were found to increase, it was right to resume the former practice

2. There were a number of these people who had tickets from the Brahmo Samaj Chattram where they receive a small dole once a day. Charity of this kind encourages begging, for it does not give enough to support life, but gives enough to prevent the recipient from adopting any useful employment, and in this way it does unmitigated harm. The Brahmo Samáj are an enlightened community to whom this argument must be familiar, and I think they should be addressed with a view to applying their charity in a more useful and discreet manner.

3. Among the able-bodied, there were several who said they would not go to the Railway works at Kengeri, but wished to go to their homes. I think it might be well to help them to go, provided it is done judiciously ; for it is no use marching such people out to Kengeri against their will. But the money given should be small, not enough to tempt people, for the sake of receiving it, to profess a desire to go home when they have no work there and possibly no house or relations left When able-bodied beggars are brought in, they should first be invited to volunteer for work, and all those who do so should be marched off, with the sick and emaciated, to Mr. Bride. Then the balance should be inspected by the Chief Inspector (Mr. Baylis at present, or whoever succeeds him), and if he is satisfied that they are fit to go to work, and cannot be persuaded to go to work, he should give them money for the road at the rate of 2 annas to 12 miles. and a printed slip addressed to the Relief Officer of their Taluk, and should march them out about 4 miles under a Constable who will return after seeing them so far. I do not think any injury can accrue from doing this but if it is found that the money gift does tempt men to refuse work, or that people go out and come back again, Mr. Hewetson will report to me and the practice will at once be stopped.

4. An Inspector of one of the Beats in the Cantonment (Mr. Virjya Lingeya, I think is the name) is charged by Captain Healey with the same duty as regards people who apply to him. It is a pity to have two people doing the same thing independently of each other, and it will be better to divide the work. All who belong to Madras and want to be sent home by Rail should be made over by the Police from Broadway to the Beat Inspector, who will as now take them to the Railway and buy them tickets and see them off All who belong to Mysore should be sent by the Beat Inspector to Broadway, before 9 A. M., and they will be marched out by the Police and given road money by Mr. Baylis.

5. Mr. Hewetson had better place Rs. 200 in the Chief Inspector's hands as an advance out of which he can pay road money, recouping himself by sending in weekly bills.

6. Two books should be kept: one of the people brought in by the Police, another of those sent home. Both should have a page or two pages given to each Taluk, and should shew the number of people coming from or going to, that Taluk. Mr Symons, of the Special Famine Agency, will keep the former: in it he will shew for each day the number of men, women, and children swept in by the Police, who belong to each Taluk. Similarly, the Chief Inspector's book will have a page or two for each Taluk and will shew the number sent back there each day. Alongside of the name of the Taluk he will write the number of annas to be given to each person returning to that Taluk, e. g., Hoskote being 16 miles, every person returning to a village in that Taluk will receive 4 annas.

The Chief Inspector will also keep an abstract of this, shewing for each day the number sent home, thus—and a copy of this should be sent in weekly, every Monday, to the Additional Secretary, countersigned by Mr. Hewetson, when the amount shewn in the last column will be passed and paid. A daily return will continue to be made through Mr. Hewetson to my office shewing the number of sick, emaciated, and able-bodied, sent from Broadway Station to Mr. Bride at the Pettah Relief Camp.

The same system should be followed in the Pettah, by Lieutenant Anderson and Inspector O'Connell.
